You can apply for project funding only by presenting your project using the official application form which can be downloaded from the website www.eiz.hr. INFORMATION ON THE PROJECT HOLDER

EWI does not support individuals. Theologians and theology students must submit their project applications exclusively through institutions, religious communities and civil society organisations within which they operate which, should your project be approved, is the legal project holder. Theologians/theology students are responsible for: project implementation, communication with EWI, collecting and compiling documents for narrative reporting. For Financial reports refer to the important note that at the end of this document.

Relationship between theologian and project holder.

Briefly describe.

INFORMATION ON PROJECT IMPLEMENTATION

1. Present your project in up to 100 words.

Briefly present the problem, project activities and objective. We suggest that you answer this question once you have completed the remainder of the application form, or after answering questions no. 2-6. Remember the word limit.

2. Describe the problem that your project will address.

A well-defined and presented problem is the first step not only towards determining the desired changes, but also the steps necessary to achieve them. In describing the problem, think why this problem is important, how you identified it, what its consequences are and who do they affect. Be specific and realistic. Support the description where possible with statistical data and other relevant information. The problem should be solvable.

3. To what changes will your project contribute?

Describe what changes you expect. Be specific and realistic in your expectations and ensure that the changes described are associated with problem presented in the previous question.

4. List and describe in detail all the activities to be carried out, and which will contribute to the afore mentioned changes.

In chronological order list how, where and what you plan to do to achieve the expected changes. Be clear, concise and avoid using abbreviations. Please note that planned activities should form a logical link between the described problem and expected changes.

In as much as you are planning on conducting training within the project, indicate how they will impact on the beneficiary group and on the expected changes (i.e. what skills/knowledge will be gained by the beneficiaries, and how and with which purpose they will be used in the project's subsequent activities).

5. Describe the role of all staff to be engaged in this project.

This relates only to those who will receive an honorarium.

Personnel employed in the project in which EWI's grant covers the cost of their honorariums, may only have one role in the project's activities i.e. one budget line.

6. Describe on whom the project will have an impact (directly or indirectly).

Describe the beneficiary group and include information on the number, sex, age and, where relevant, religious and ethnic affiliation.

7. Taking into consideration all measures relating to the Covid-19 pandemic, how do you plan to protect the health and wellbeing of your associates and beneficiaries?

Briefly describe.

8. How do you plan to realise the project's planned changes in the case of further restrictions on travel and gatherings?

In no more than half a page, describe your "plan B", taking into consideration the needs of the beneficiary group.

9. Do you plan to cooperate with other civil society organisations and/or institutions during the implementation of your project?

If you plan to cooperate with other CSOs or institutions, indicate the name and type of cooperation e.g.

1. CSO XY - from this organisation we will engage trainers
2. Municipal authority XY - provision of public space free of charge

10. How as a theologian do you contribute to this project?

Briefly describe your specific contribution you make to certain parts of the project or to the project as a whole. Try to think about what the key differences you make to the project as a woman theologian, in comparison to e.g. a civil society organisation.

11. Would you like to share any additional information?

Here you can offer additional information that you would like to share and that is relevant to the proposed project.

b) PROJECT BUDGET

The project budget must be presented in EUR on the EWI Budget Form that can be downloaded from the website www.eiz.hr. The costs of project staff should be expressed in gross amounts and should not exceed 20% of total project value. For those who are employed and receive salaries, the unit is month. For those who receive a fee (e.g. as a trainer) the unit is contract. Administrative costs (electricity, water, rent office space, telephone, office supplies, etc.) may not exceed 15% of the total value of the project budget. Budget lines must clearly relate to the proposed project activities.

Below you will find an example of a completed budget form.

N.B. Should your project be approved, your financial report must be compiled and verified either by a person employed as a bookkeeper in your organisation, or by an external bookkeeping firm with which your organisation has a signed contract and is certified to perform accounting services. If the organisation does not have its own bookkeeping procedures, it should enter into a contract with an external bookkeeping firm and included these costs in the budget. In addition to this, the Financial Report will need to be certified by the person authorised to sign for the Project Holder.
